

October 2018:

In October, daytime highs and overnight lows were below normal across the appellation. Accumulated base 10 °C growing degree days were below normal for October. Accumulated growing degree days were above 2017 values and below 2016 values. Rainfall across Prince Edward County was on average 146 % of normal for October. Up to 34 mm of rainfall was recorded in the appellation over October 6 through October 8.

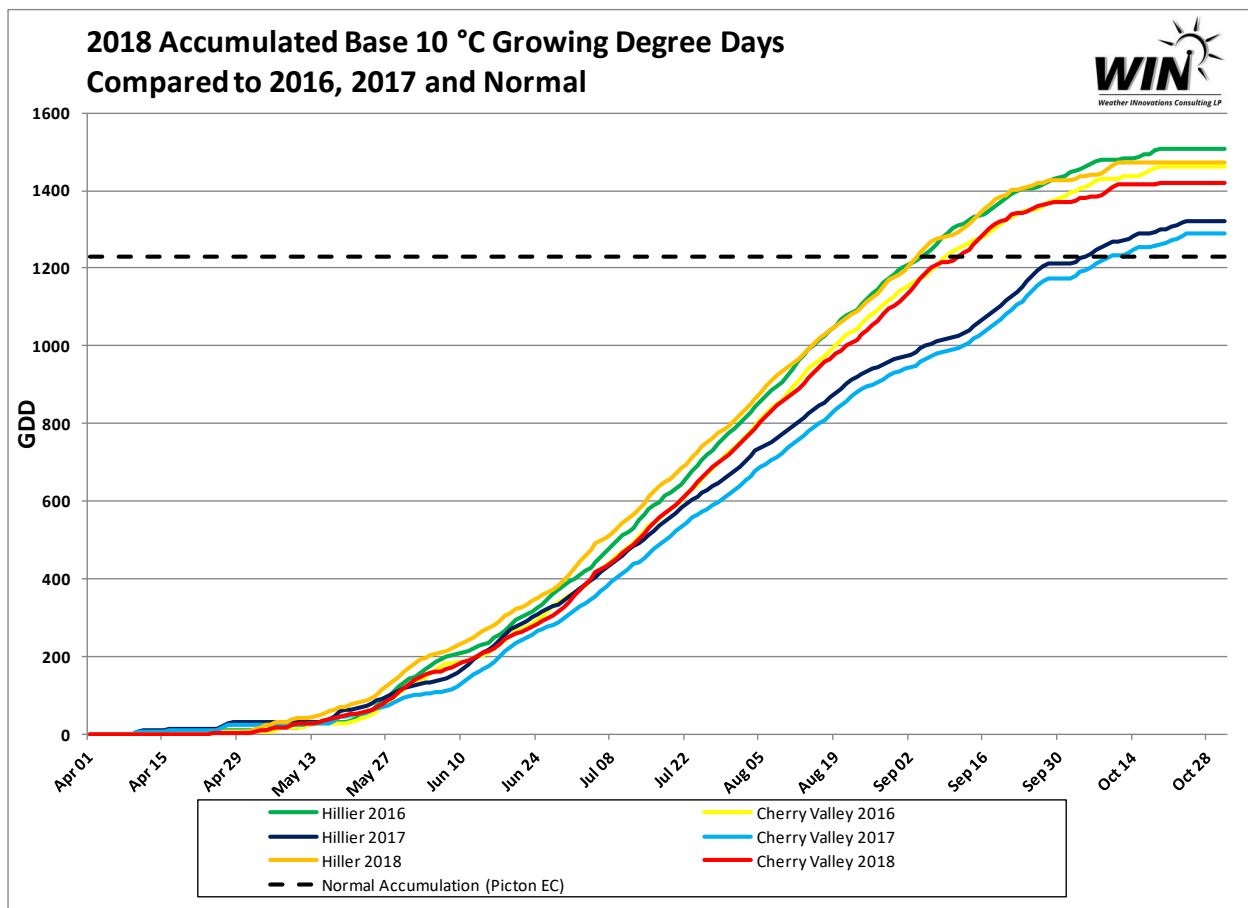

Figure 1: Growing Degree Days

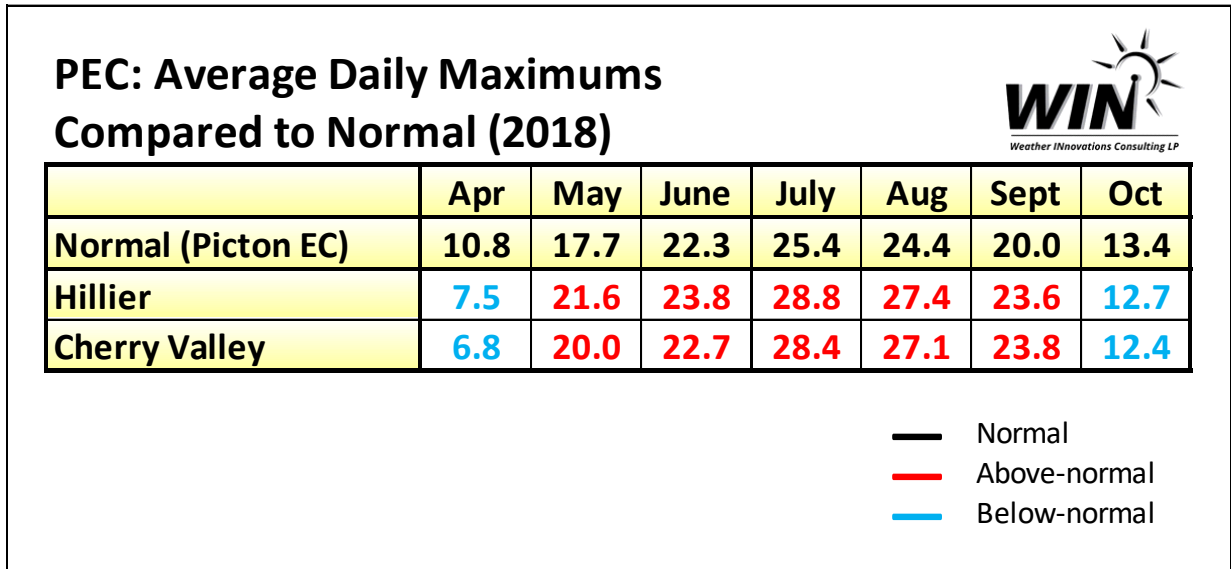

Figure 2: Maximum Temperatures

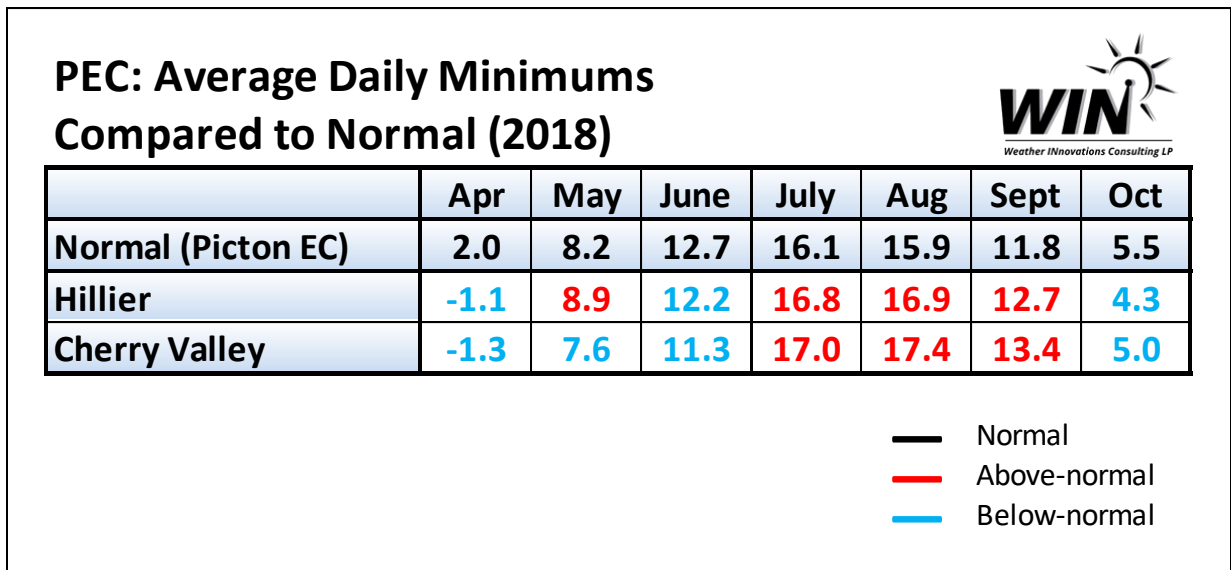

Figure 3: Minimum Temperatures

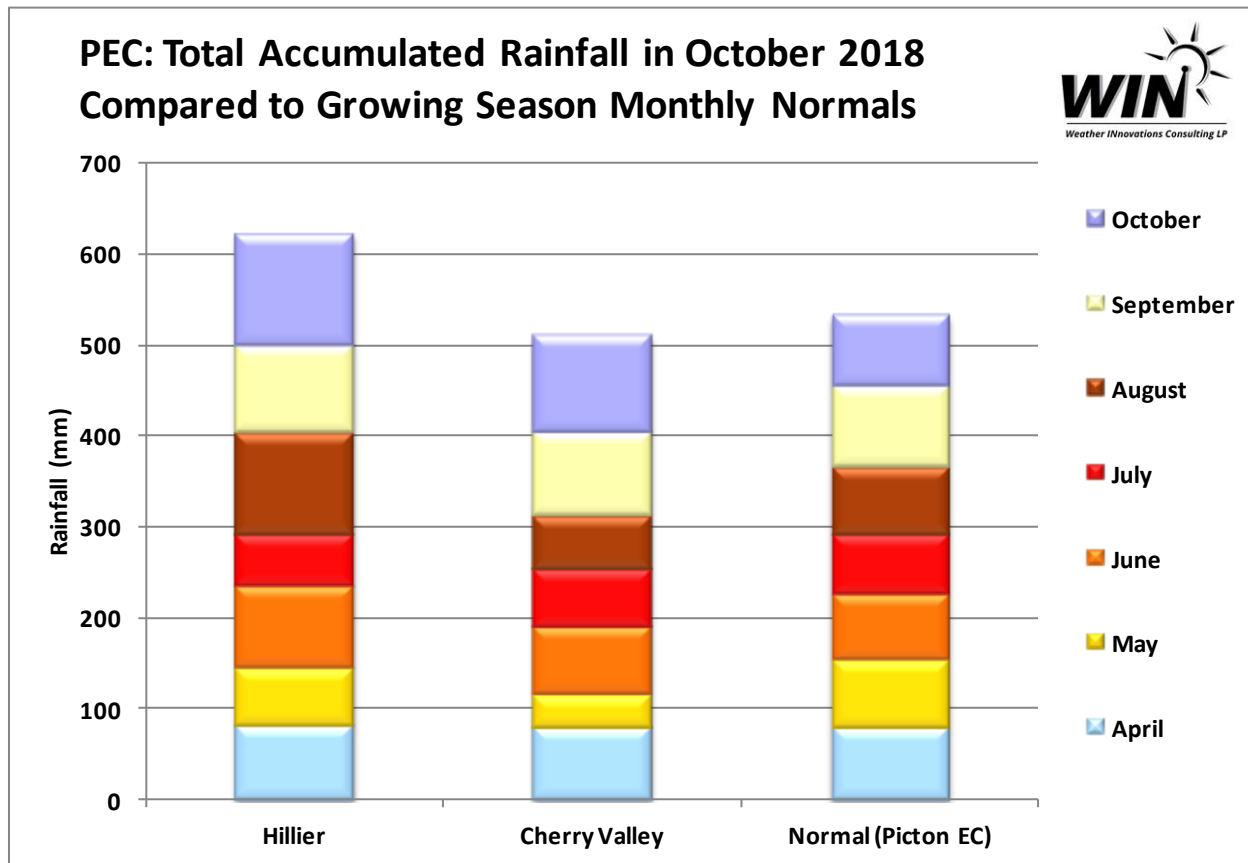

Figure 4: Rainfall